Please Pray:

- God would bless Annada with a love for God, joy in life and health.
- Marc and I would be wise, caring and loving parents.

Dear friends,

I am in love! Annada is already two months old and a beautiful, active little girl. I'm not sure how a week has gone by, much less eight.

I am grateful for all of your prayers. I took strength in them during my (very) short labor. My water broke at 5:47 a.m. on December 20th, the first contraction was at 6:11 and Annada was born at 8:35 a.m. – 15 minutes after we arrived at the birth center.

Annada crowned in the car, so my midwife Robyn met us on the road and drove in front looking for police (my mom ran a stop light for the first time). If we weren't going to make it, Robyn was going to pull off and deliver Annada on the side of the road! Now I regret teasing Marc for being afraid I would deliver at home.

After we arrived at The Birth Place, I ran in (no time for a wheel chair) and three pushes later, Annada was born. Marc and I were able to hold her right away. It was an incredible moment. I am in awe of what God has done for us. She has tons of dark blonde hair, 10 toes and fingers and seems healthy in every way. In fact, she has already gained 4 lbs. She now weighs 11 lbs., 3 oz. and is 24 inches tall.

Because Annada was born so fast, I ended up on bed-rest for 3 weeks. (It would have been 8 days, but 5 days into "bed-rest" I was reinjured coming home from the beach. Yes, I'm hoping I learned a lesson too.)

I have healed well and am feeling great. Marc is an incredible dad and I'm pretty sure Annada learned her vast noise making abilities from him. She watches him closely and even purses her lips in a little "o" when he whistles. All three of us are learning a lot.

I do have a couple of prayer requests to pass on:

The first month Annada was having a hard time sleeping because of acid reflex. It has gotten markedly better with time. We are thankful she didn't need medicine to control it. Please pray she would continue to improve.

Being a mom is a dream come true for me. I have really enjoyed focusing on Annada. Now I am also praying about what work to continue doing with Campus Crusade. Several teams have asked for my help. Please pray I would have wisdom to know what commitments to make.

Thank you friends! It means a lot knowing we are going into the adventure of being parents with your prayers and support.

With love, Evangeline

Daddy gets foiled!

When Marc returned to work after Annada was born, he found his desk covered in foil. His co-workers had even wrapped every pen and piece of candy in the candy dish individually!

They left him a foil "Welcome Back" mat and a to-do list. Every other item on the list was "change baby."

Once Marc got his computer and chair uncovered, his first day back was also his first day as a Siebel administrator. It's a huge and complicated job. Marc balances his new role and family by coming home for lunch most days. Annada breaks out in a huge smile when she sees him.
