are our letters from Home.
St. Augustine

Please Pray:
- Praise God! God blessed us with exactly as much new monthly financial support as we prayed for during our May trip. Plus people have generously helped with our new home costs—it is such a blessing.

- For us to have energy and wisdom. This is a busy summer!

Summer 2007

We're roasting here in Orlando and that can only mean one thing—it's summer time! So far this summer Marc has gone to a PeopleSoft Server Administration class, we went to Omaha for a support raising trip and we moved into our townhouse. But really, we're just getting going. Here's a sneak peak at what else we are doing:

June 11 through August 12: Evangeline mentors Kelly

Kelly:

- A college student from James Madison University
- Leads a Bible study on campus
- Interning with the Web Publishing Team
- Evangeline is her supervisor
- A Web design and art major (perfect!)

"Kelly is a talented woman with a heart to serve God. I am excited to connect with her this summer. What an honor to spend 10 weeks investing in her life!" Evangeline

July 16-27: Staff Conference in Colorado

- 5,000 Campus Crusade missionaries from around the world.
- A great chance for Marc to learn what is (and is not) working with our missionaries' computer systems.
- An opportunity for Evangeline to do interviews.
- A time to renew our vision and hear from leaders while seeing old friends.

Staff conference 2005

"I'm looking forward to the staff conference. I love the long times of worship and reconnecting with friends. I need this time to spiritually recharge." Marc

Give up? It is because women (single and married) are disconnected and lonely.

Experiences | Mission | God

What would you guess is a main reason missionaries leave our headquarters?

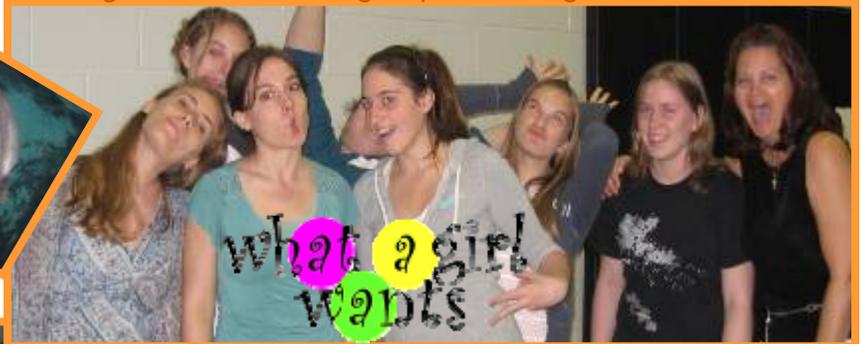

Beyond her normal job, Evangeline is working with a small team of women to build community. So far about 35 women have joined in. We believe it is making a huge difference. This summer, while many of the other leaders are out of town, Evangeline will lead (in)Common Women.

Summer Snapshots 2007
